OILING THE SEA.

Tha Wonderful Effect on Enormous Waves A Curious Sight. One of the most curious sights at sea is that of an oil bound ship. Every up to date ship carries oil tanks, the quantity varying with the size of the vessel. For instance, a steamer of 150 tons burden carries on an average 60 gallons of oil. This oil is the refuse discarded by the oil refining factories and often consists of a mixture of whale oil, petroleum and vegetable oil. It costs about twopence a gallon, and a large sized vessel can be well supplied for 20 shillings.

The oil is stowed in spacious zmo tanks, arranged in the hold of the ship to act as ballast. Each tank contains 50 gallons of oil, and an ingenious mechanical tap arrangement connects the tank with the outside of the vessel.

If a dangerous gale arises and the oiled circle they seem to melt away and pass harmlessly beneath the vessel.

Sailing vessels are not so often furnished with oil tanks as steamers. It is estimated, however, that over 200 vessels have been saved from shipwreck by means of the oil tanks since they were introduced a few years ago. It is only in cases of absolute peril that the tanks are resorted to, -London Answers.

A Village Rising Bell.

For more than 20 years Bowmans ville. Pa., has had what is known as a village bell. It is swung between two W HO employ the Expert Baker they have had for the last eighteen months public subscription. Every day the bell Patrons may be assured of 13 rung three times-at 5:30 o'clock a. m, 11 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The leading object of its ringing is to announce to farmers and other working people the time of day. The first bell in the morning at Bowmansville is the signal for the people to arise, and in summer most of the residents are out that early. The 11 o'clock bell announces that it is the time to leave the fields and prepare for diffner. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon they prepero for supper. — Cor. Philadelphia

If a dangerous gale arises and the ship becomes unmanageable and likely to founder, the sluces are opened, and 20 gallons or more of the oil is allowed to escape into the sea.

The effect is instantaneous. However stormy the sea may be, the vessel lies in a gently heaving millpond. There is no further danger of foundering, and the oil moves along with the vessel for some time, often half an hour, after which it breaks up and disperses. The ship must slucken speed a little, and more cil is let out from the tanks. Encreous waves may bear down on the ship, but on approaching the magic oiled circle they seem to melt away and mass harmelessly beneath the vessel.

Complete information regarding it, and testimonials from hundreds who have used it, are embodied in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a standard medical work of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, which will be sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only. This work is a complete family doctor book and should be read by both young and old. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual discase, but simply to a constinated condisickness are not due to any actual dis-case, but simply to a constipated condi-tion of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, prompt-ly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes interval one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you pur-

The shrewdness and loquacity of market women-s craft numbering more new-are proverbial, and the following anecdote in Mr. Deran's book on "Table Traits ' bears witness to the justice of their regulation:
A member of the sisterhood in Bristol, England, had a £10 pound Bank of England note and wished to exchange it for gold, which was then at a high premium. Accordingly she entered a bank and m. de known her request, to be met with in suit refecal.

The quick writed woman, without exhibiting any disappointment, thereupon asked the cashier to let her have ten of the bank's £1 notes in exchange for her Bank of Englander. The exchange being completed, the old woman, taking up one of the provincial note, read aroad the promise engraved upen 16 to jay the learer in each.

' Very good," said she, with a chiekle, "now gi' me goold for your note, or I'll run to the door and call out 'Bank's broke.'"

The church was growded with fond parents and friends to enjoy the exhibition of their youngsters going through their religious exercises. The participants were all boys ranging from 7 to 15 years of age, and they looked angelic, the most of them, in their clean white waists and knickerbockers, with patent leather pumps. One of them attracted attention by his cherubic appearance, as the childien walked backward with bowed and reverent attitude, strewing flowers before their religious teachers and singing in sweet, boyish treble. Just as the song swelled to its fullest the bey in front of the cherubic lad by mischance trod on his foot and without changing a muscle in the expression of his face the latter went on strewing his roses and singing, changing the words of the hymn to Five years ago last March I felt the first symptoms of rheumatism. The next March I had la grippe, which left me with what the doctor pronounced muscular rheumatism. I became better, but in November had another severe attack. It settled in my back and right hip, and was then called sciatica. I was blistered several times without any relief. I spent all of that winter in bed. The next spring I was able to be out a little, but in August had another attack and was blistered again. This time they kept the blisters sore for over two weeks, but I received no benefit.

"After this I had sixteen boils, or something similar, on the right side. I commenced to get crooked and had to use a cane when I walked. I again got a little better, but in February became worse, and my back gave out completely so that I could not straighten. The doctor said it was the breaking down of the bone structure of the vertebra. I was nearly double. When I became able to walk I was so bent over that I had to walk by pushing a chair, as I could not straighten. I could not sit and lean back in a rocker. There was a large bunch about half-way down on my back which, at times, pained me terribly.

High Priced Losenges. "The most expensive confectionery I ever saw was in a little Adirondack hamlet years ago," remarked a friend one morning. And he went on to tell the story. He was one of a party of sportsmen who had been after deer deep n the fastnesses of the Adirondacks. They were on the way out, and in the afternoon had to put up until next morning because the next stopping place could not be reached in the few remaining hours of the day. Some wicked person suggested that a game of poker would be a pleasant diversion, but they had no chips. The friend referred to rose to the occasion and purchased at banker and sold his friends the confections at 5 cents per lozenge. Quiet reigned, and the game went on. Presently the "banker" ate a peppermint. The example was contagious. The man opposite began to nibble a chip, and then, becoming absorbed in a question about the opening of a jack pot, swallowed the peppermint. Before anybody saw the jako a large number of chips had been caten up, to the considerable profit of the "banker," who, of course, could not be expected to redeem chips which had dissolved and disappeared forever. The "banker" was all right. He ate from the bag. —Hardware.

For your Protection.—Catarrh "Cures" or Tonies for Catarrh in liquid form to be taken internally, usually contain either Mercury or Iodide of Potassa, or both, which are injurlous if too long taken. Catarrh is a local, not a blood disease, caused by sadden change to cold or damp weather. It starts in the nasal passages, affecting cycs, cars and throat. Cold in the head causes excessive flow of muons, and, if repeatedly neglected, the results of catarrh will follow; severe pain in the head, a roaring sound in the ears, bad breath, and oftentimes an offensive discharge. The remedy should be quick to allay inflammation and heal the membrane. Ely Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles and contains no mercury nor any injurious drug. Price. 50 cents.
